

Jon Kling Associates
Personal Financial Advisors

January 28, 1998

Jill Prescott
Ecole de Cuisine
765 H Woodlake Rd.
Kohler, WI. 53044

Dear Jill,

I just wanted to let you know what a wonderful experience I had by attending your Regional Italian Cuisine class. Chef Marc Bianchini did an unbelievable job of demonstrating and getting us involved in a hands-on experience of cooking Italian food. In addition to picking up a lot of new techniques, he helped me develop an even greater passion for cooking. As you probably know, Marc went the extra mile in trying to make our experience unforgettable. One evening students had the opportunity to work in his kitchen at Osteria del Mondo in Milwaukee. It really brings your experience full circle when you can see how things are done in a restaurant. We were fed a great meal and then shown the City and some of the landmarks. WOW !!

Jill, your staff at Ecole de Cuisine were most gracious and helpful host in your absence. Robin, Sherry, Marianne, and Jody made sure all of our culinary needs were met. They made us all feel very special. GREAT JOB STAFF !

I didn't know if I would make it back to Birmingham with the huge box of cookware I was carrying. The Alclad and I both made it back safe and sound. My family was glad to see me put the new cookware to use the first thing Saturday morning with a spinach, onion, sun-dried tomato, and goat cheese omelet. A lot of ooh's and aah's !!!

The pictures I made during class turned out great. I have some good ones of the dishes plated-up and ready to serve. When my schedule slows down a little I will have copies made and sent to you.

I was so glad that it worked out that I could at least meet you on Friday before the school started and you left on your trip. There is no doubt I will be returning for other classes. I will make sure it is one you will be instructing.

Jill, best wishes for continued success. I hope your cookware project comes together without too many headaches.

Sincerely Yours,

Jon C. Kling, CFP
Certified Financial Planner